President’s Report

The last few weeks have been some of our busiest, as we prepared for the Melbourne Shrine Service, the Reunion at a new venue, and the traditional ANZAC day march. I am very pleased to say that we had record attendances at all events.

Staging a reunion at a working Army Base comes with problems and the Committee worked their butts off to make sure that everything went off well; and it did, with over 90 people in attendance. The tour of this ancient barracks was also a highlight. Seeing the Cabinet War Room, left much as it was during WW2, and still being used today for meetings, put us in the mood for a memorable Reunion in The Officers’ Mess. It was wonderful to see 2/14th Western Australian Veteran Phil Kemp and his family come from all parts of Australia to participate again, as did Matt Power from Mount Tamborine in Queensland. Our local, Max Caldwell, made up the group of Veterans who all seemed to thoroughly enjoy themselves in this unique setting. Rob Eden, once again, did a sterling job at keeping the motley crew in order.

Then, on a beautiful sunny morning, over 60 marchers stepped off for the annual ANZAC day march to The Shrine. Max Caldwell led the parade, ably assisted by the children, teachers and parents of Kingsbury Primary School, all in school colours, the colours of the Battalion, Yellow over Blue. What a sight we made, as we swung into St Kilda Road, heading for the Shrine. I was sent photos, as we marched, of the 2/14th marchers in Brisbane, also well attended. Congratulations all, our fathers would have been so very proud.

I am coming to the end of my stint as your President; Vice President Craig Iskov will be taking over in September, after the elections. Craig is the son of our 2/14th Veteran Bob Iskov, who is doing it hard at the moment. I wish him well, and have every confidence that his son, Craig will continue on with the traditions of this proud Association, and add some fresh thoughts on the future running of the organisation.

Till the next time,
Michael Ralston, President.

HEALING THE WOUNDS OF WAR

Continuing a tradition that dates back to the First World War, the annual 14th Battalions memorial service will be held at St George’s Uniting Church, on Sunday, 24th August, commencing at 10.30am.

The service remembers the death at Gallipoli of Rev Andrew Gillison, Chaplain of the 14th Battalion and minister at St George’s, as well as all those who served in the 2/14th and 14/32nd Battalions during World War II, and later conflicts and peace keeping roles.

Guest speaker on this occasion will be Rev John Bottomley, former minister at St George’s and now deputy director of Creative Ministries Network. He will speak on “Transforming Tradition”.

Lunch, hosted by 2/10 Light Battery, 5/6 The Royal Victoria Regiment and St George’s congregation is available for $10 at the Drill Hall next door to the church, following the service. To assist with catering, please RSVP your lunch booking before 15 August by phoning 0423673273 or email charmpolo@yahoo.com

See the Coming Events notice for further details.
The day began as usual, with the Wreath Laying at the Battalion Tree, beside the Shrine of Remembrance.

Rob Eden presided over a brief ceremony, at which President Michael Caldwell laid the wreath, in memory of all who served in the First World War. Harry McCann, in his capacity as President of the 39th Light Horseman, Light Horseman, included a brief address.

As always, we thank the Shrine for their practical assistance with the ceremony, including the provision of the catafalque party and the presence of their representative, Shrine Governor, Colonel John Coulson. Thank you, too, to Howard Cornish, on hand with his bugle, for his superb playing.

This ceremony was followed by a tour of Victoria Barracks, where Matt Power, Max Caldwell, and Matt’s brother, John, gathered in the Officer’s Mess for the luncheon. The highlights of this event was the awarding of Life Membership to Matt Power and Ross Wilkinson. Their citations can be read elsewhere in this edition. In his reply to the award, Matt paid tribute to Michael’s contribution as President. He went on to reflect on the Bulukal campaign, describing the masterful organisation of the invasion, which was designed to save lives while achieving its objectives.

Special thanks are extended to Colonel McGowan, President of the Officer’s Mess at Victoria Barracks for granting permission to hold the reunion in this historic venue; to Ron Newland and his security officers for facilitating our presence on the base; and to Brad Sutton and his team from Brighton Catering for the delicious food.

The work of Rob Eden and John Smith in liaising with the Barracks to stage the event, must also be acknowledged with much appreciation.

The holding of the Reunion at the Barracks was initially planned four years ago, but the elements stepped in, and the long time taken to repair the building following severe hail damage meant it only became possible to stage the event now, which was a good time to organise your government issued photo identity card for future occasions. (See last edition for information on this process.)

2014 YARRA VALLEY LEGACY ANZAC SERVICE FOR SCHOOLS

Our hearts sank when, as we drove out of the Burwood Highway hill to Springvale Road on our way to the Legacy Schools Service at Ferntree Gully National Park on 30th April, the heavens opened and the rain came down in a torrent. Looking ahead, however, we could see an area of clear sky at the foot of the Dandenongs. Perhaps, with a bit of luck, we would be all right, after all.

Yarra Valley Legacy President David Heale presided over the event, as well as speaking about the origins of Legacy, set up by former soldiers, in the wake of World War I to care for the widows and children of their fallen comrades.

The other speaker was Alan Jameson, Vice President of the 39th Battalion Association, who reminded the children of the crucial role the battalions commemorated on the Memorial Wall we were gathered before, played in ensuring the freedom we enjoy today.

During the service, students from Ferny Creek and Tecoma Primary Schools supported the singing, while band members were from both Upwey High and Tecoma Primary.

About 200 school children were in attendance for the moving ceremony, and as Legatee David Heale acknowledged in closing, the rain gods held off, until a light sprinkle began to fall at the very end of the service.

John Leask Visit
In February, we were contacted by John Leask who had two uncles, Ivan and Norm, serve with the Battalion. John hoped to speak with a veteran who had served with them and so we met at the Barwon residence of Dudley Warhurst.

After some general discussion, John asked if Dudley had known Ivan. Dudley replied that he had and that he had stumbled across Ivan on a stretcher at tourate. Dudley had removed Ivan’s 03 hand in and also removed a small golden boomerang which he resolved to return to his family as they lived not far from his hometown of Benalla.

I wish I had taken a photo of John’s face at this point! Whatever he had hoped to get from the visit had obviously been achieved in abundance. As I have said before, while the body is getting Dudley down, the mind is still sharp.

John added that the Ivan’s mother had given her son a boomerang to carry as a gesture that they return. On ANZAC Day, Dudley told the visiting group of his emotional experience when he returned Ivan’s boomerang to the family. Every eye was filled to one degree or another.

Bellairs’ Legacy
Fran Ralston joined me to attend a presentation from the Bellairs family to The Southport School (TSS). Bill Bellairs (39 Bn) was a great supporter of the 2/14th especially in attending the annual reunion. Bill regularly led 3 cheers for the 2/14th in recognition of its timely arrival at Saraveo to relieve his exhausted 39th Battalion. Bill also supported a number of associations on the Gold Coast and had a particular interest in TSS. The perpetual trophy, awarded for "moral strength" is, appropriately, one of Peter Doman’s statues of Bruce Kingsbury VC.

Pre Kokoda Visit
In March, a request was received from Stephen MacPherson, son of a 2/25th Battalion soldier, to meet with a survivor of the Kokoda campaign, prior to taking his twin 16 year old sons over the Track in April.

I collected George Palmer (39 Bn) and off we went to meet them at Dudley’s. Father and sons were impressed with the two veterans and prepared to head off for the venture, concluding at Bomana War Cemetery on ANZAC Day, with renewed inspiration.

Unfortunately, I have to apologies that pictures associated with these events were lost in my phone’s destruction.

QUEENSLAND REPORT

When one views the imposing bluestone edifice of Victoria Barracks as visible from St Kilda Rd, one is not aware of the dozen or so separate buildings, behind it on the 32 acre site. Such was one of the surprise discoveries made apparent to the members of the Battalion Association lucky enough to be included in the Barracks tour prior to the Reunion Luncheon in Melbourne this year.

The three oldest buildings on the site, all bluestone, date between 1856 and 1859 and were built by British soldiers, as accommodation block, hospital and keep, surrounded by a secure defensive wall, some of which remains. The hospital was soon moved when it was decided that its proximity to a cess pit made it of less than ideal location. With a layout, designed according to standard British colonial practice, the inclusion of a keep provided a place of last resort in the event of hostile attack, with firing holes and observation slits at either end. Today it constitutes an ideal wine cellar for the Officers’ Mess.

LUTWYCHE WAR GRAVES

Michael Webster reports that the Commonwealth War Graves people have done a clean-up of the area in the Lutwyche Cemetery, where three soldiers from 2/14th are interred, and rehighlighted the inscriptions on the headstones.

ROTARY KOKODA CLASSIC

The War Cabinet Room, and the next door War Advisory Committee Room were the hub of government decision-making, with regard to the premiership of the war. From here Curtin declared war on Japan in December, 1941.

The peculiarly-shaped table, maps on the wall, brown- curtained and ‘refreshment’ cabinet are still to be seen in the room. From these rooms, important decisions with regard to theatres of war, rationing, man power controls and any other business that would contribute to and support the war effort were taken.

In 1957, the Defence Department made the final move to Canberra, but Victoria Barracks continues to serve an important administrative function within the Australian Department of Defence, witnessed by the fact that our group was unable to have access to the Cabinet Room, until a meeting chaired by the Chief of the Army, had concluded there.

For those of you who missed out on the tour, Peter Judge, head of the Corps of Guides, informed us that Barracks tours, which had been suspended following the attack on Honolulu, Barracks in Sydney, are planned to recommence within a few months. The tours give access to an important aspect of Australia’s history and those who visited the site in April heartily recommend them.

The intention of the changes being made is both to re-focus attention on this magnificent memorial and also coincide with Kokoda Day, which will be held the day before at the Memorial.

MEMORABILIA

The above photograph was taken in 1946, at the Shrine Pilgrimage. Only a handful of members have been identified so far. If you’d like to have a closer look to see if you can recognise anyone, please contact the Editor (03 9889 3466 or jilliebear@gmail.com)
At the recent Annual Reunion in Melbourne, veteran, Matt Power and former Association secretary, Ross Wilkinson were awarded Life Membership of the Association. Their citations appear below:

VX 16374 Sergeant Matthew Robert Power

Matt was born in Tiaroaeg and was living in the nearby small town of Gormandise when he enlisted on 23 May 1940. He was inducted into the Army at Caulfield Racecourse before marching into the 2/14 Battalion several days later. Matt is one of the approximately 155 “original” men who were to spend their entire service in the Battalion for the next 5 ½ years and who saw service in every campaign in which the Battalion was involved. When the companion volume to Bill Russell’s official history was being prepared for publication, Men of the Second Frontline, Matt was an important contributor because of his keen eye for detail over this continuous service.

He was wounded during the battle of Isurava, with his 15 Platoon being one of the first body of 2/14 troops onto the Isurava battlefield. Despite being shot in the back, he walked out of Isurava, after returning to the front line to ensure his squad had retreated.

He was finally discharged from the Army in December 1945 whilst the Battalion was undertaking peacekeeping functions in the Celebes (Sulawesi) Islands.

On his return to Australia, Matt became a schoolteacher, This career enabled him to return to becoming President, but this was accelerated by the death of then-President, the Reverend Tom Douglas. Matt finally ended up in retirement in Queensland near the nearby small town of Gormandale when he enlisted in the Army in 1940. He was inducted into the Army at Caulfield Racecourse before marching into the 2/14 Battalion several days later.

Life Memberships

Consequently, he was well placed to manage the discussion.

At the time, there was some disappointment on detail but Matt, who had flown down from Queensland for his important meeting, calmly but firmly controlled the meeting resulting in the final decision being reached.

Matt, along with Col Blame, was then invited to attend the official opening and dedication of the memorial as a representative of the 2/14 Battalion Association.

Matt has been a very important and active member of the Association, with his knowledge of the Battalion through his involvement in every campaign in which they were involved. He has made himself available to attend pilgrimages in Papua New Guinea and, more recently, given expert advice during three trips to Balikpapan in 2010, 2012 & 2013 and is hoping to go on the next one to celebrate the 70th anniversary of the battles in Balikpapan.

His local knowledge has made it possible to locate the sites of important battlegrounds there, including the positive identification of the position of Waite’s Knoll during the visit in 2012.

In 2000, after 40 years as Secretary of the Association, John Stirling sought help from someone who could eventually take over the Secretary’s role. Because of his local government experience, Ross was urged by his father to contact John, so in 2000 he joined the Committee as Assistant Secretary and in 2001 took over from John. Ross held the post of Secretary, until his resignation in 2008. For several years during this time, Ross and his wife Louise were also editors of the Association Newsletter, Comradeship.

From 2000 until 2013, Ross was also Public Officer of the Incorporated Association.

On his return to Australia, Ross gained his Town Clerk’s qualifications and worked with various Councils in Victoria. He spent his last 6 years of working life with the State Government in the Transport area before retiring in 2012.

Ross, with his interest in military history and strong research capabilities, continues to contribute actively to the Association. For many years, as his special tribute to those who served in the Battalion, he has prepared the obituaries for publication in Comradeship and written obituary service bulletins for delivery at the funeral services of our veterans. There are many members of the Association and of the general public, who have benefited from Ross’s rich store of historical knowledge, which he shares generously, so that connections that the Men of the 2/14th can be renewed and maintained.

Many members and supporters in the past have expressed interest in visiting Papua New Guinea without actually walking the Kokoda Track.

In conjunction with our supporters at Our Spirit Tours, we are considering a possible, optional 3-day stopover in Port Moresby for those persons who would like to visit the Bomana War Cemetery and see Ower’s Corner, the commencement of the Kokoda Track which allows a great view of the Owen Stanley Ranges and Imata Ridge. This extension will be conducted by Our Spirit Tours.

Air Milenburg flies to Singapore 4 times per week so participants availing themselves of the PNG stopover can continue on to Balikpapan via Singapore and meet with the group to commence the Balikpapan arrangements.

Expression of Interest 2015 will be a busy year for military commemoration especially with the 100th anniversary of the Gallipoli landings in April and the 70th anniversary of the end of World War 2.

Initial indications are that the 2015 2/14th Balikpapan tour will be heavily subscribed and it is essential that we start planning as soon as possible. Numbers will be strictly limited and if necessary, a selection ballot will be held.

Further information and expressions of interest will be called for in the next edition of Comradeship.

Further initial information is available from:

The 1st of July 2015 will be the 70th anniversary of the 2/14 Battalion landings at Yellow Beach, Balikpapan, Borneo.

Whilst it is early days, the association is putting together preliminary plans for a commemorative tour of Balikpapan with accompanying services to be held in Balikpapan between 29 June 2015 and 5 July 2015. Our expat supporters in Balikpapan have assured us of their assistance.

As with past 2/14 Battalion Association Balikpapan tours, in order to keep costs to an absolute minimum, instead of using a tour company, we will put together an itinerary and then it will be up to participating persons to arrange their own airfares. This will allow participants to shop around for the cheapest airfares available and also make their own stopovers en route or on return.

The Association will attempt to negotiate a discounted rate at a Balikpapan Hotel to keep everyone together and, in conjunction with our Balikpapan expatriate supporters, arrange the appropriate local tours and services. A costing for the tours including the buses, national park admission fees and meals will be advised in due course but will be kept at cost. Meals, visas, travel insurance will be individual expenses however where a meal is arranged, a costing will be provided.

Current secretary, John Smith and Michael Ralston (Chair) would like membership of the Association to Ross Wilkinson.
2/14th veteran Bob Iskov is in Wangaratta Private Hospital recovering from a recent fall and subsequent stroke. Son, Craig, reports Bob has regained enough speech capacity to again coach football, politics and grandchildren. He is currently awaiting a placement in a rehabilitation ward in Wangaratta Base Hospital and the family is hopeful of a good recovery.

Recently, Bob was thrilled to have a visit from Pastor Magi Goro, a family friend from PNG. Magi Goro is a Chimbu man from the PNG Highlands who lives in Port Moresby, with his wife Debbie and six children. Magi is supervisor of over 150 churches in the Southern region of PNG and is much loved among the people there. When Bob, Craig and Richard Iskov stayed on with Kenn Iskov in Port Moresby after the 2/14th PNG trip in 2004, Magi presented them with a bow and arrow each, saying “Bob was a warrior who helped to keep our country free from the Japanese invader”.

When planning to visit Sydney for a conference last week Magi advised Kenn Iskov that he wanted to come down and see Bob, for whom he has developed a great love and respect. Magi did find Wangaratta a little cold, given he has developed a great love and respect. Magi did find Wangaratta a little cold, given he has developed a great love and respect.

Earlier in the year a group of local porters from Kagi Village, PNG, also came to Wangaratta, with the intention of visiting Bob at the RSL there. Unfortunately, Bob was taken off to hospital for the night, leaving Craig and the Raistons to host the night.

The next day, the Kagi group went round to Bob’s house and serenaded him there. [Editor’s note: One of my fondest memories of my trek on the Kokoda Track was coming into Nadul, the village up the hill from Kagi to the sound of the young men singing. Totally uplifting. Lucky Bob. I’m sure it did him good.]

Sandy, wife of Peter Forster reports that is faring very well overall, although he spent a few days in hospital with an infection in early April. She passed on that life at Fairway Hostel is wonderful - a truly beautiful facility just 500 metres from home and providing much better care than where Peter was previously. “It’s the ideal model of ‘personalising care.’”

Below is a photo of Peter and Sandy taken in March at the South Melbourne Market. “We took him there in his wheelchair in a maxi-cab. He loved it and was treated like royalty by all the traders who’ve known him over the past 20 plus years,” explained Sandy.
